

DUG East Conference and Exhibition 2011 Show Report

The Marcellus shale in the northeast U.S. has become a phenomenal producer in a few short years, and now the Utica shale is poised to emerge as another major Appalachian Basin play. Some 3,381 attendees at Hart Energy's third annual DUG™ East Conference and Exhibition learned that the Marcellus play is currently producing 4 billion cubic feet (Bcf) of gas per day, and could reach volumes of 12 Bcf a day by 2020. The event was held in Pittsburgh on November 15-17, and included midstream and environmental workshops, a day and a half of conference talks, and a lively exhibit floor.

Executives from operating companies including Consol Energy, EQT Corp., Cabot Oil & Gas, Seneca Resources, Magnum Hunter and PDC Energy spoke about their excellent Marcellus results and plans to add more rigs in coming years. A panel focused on the Utica shale outlined the geology, geochemistry and location of the most desirable deposits, and also delved into activity levels and drilling results to date. Ohio officials rolled out their red carpet for the industry, inviting operators and service firms to do business in the Buckeye State.

T. Boone Pickens, legendary oilman and founder and chairman of BP Capital, delighted the assembly during his keynote lunch address. "Our energy outlook is vastly different than it was five years ago," he said. "We're in a position now where we can pull up to the big table for world energy, and we haven't had a chair at that table in a long, long time."

Indeed, the U.S. onshore oil and gas industry is undergoing a major structural transformation, and this transformation is unfolding in Appalachia. Since January 2010, some $27.3 billion has been spent by firms entering the Marcellus play; in just the past 60 days, Utica transactions have added $3.65 billion to the basin total.

Environmental protection was a major theme of the event, as representatives from operating companies engaged in roundtables with legal and regulatory experts. A constant refrain was the importance of fact-based, community outreach programs. "Transparency is key—people want to know what we are doing and when we are doing it, said Ted Wurfel, Chief Gathering vice president.

"Industry and environmentalism can coexist and can be in proper balance," noted Ray Walker, senior vice president, Range Resources. "The industry craves predictability and uniformity, but we have never asked for it to be easy."

DUG East 2012 – Save the Date

The oil and gas industry is buzzing with the potential for the Utica shale to layer below the world-class Marcellus play, at the same time the Appalachian states are happily realizing the financial benefits of current and planned developments. The 2012 DUG™ East Conference & Exhibition will focus on the positive growth that operators, service companies and local economies are experiencing across the Utica and Marcellus regions, including first-hand reports from senior-level oil and gas executives who are bringing these exciting plays to fruition.

On behalf of Hart Energy, we thank all those who have participated in DUG East the past three years and we invite you back next year! Mark your calendars for the 4th DUG East Conference & Exhibition. The 2012 dates are November 13 – 15, 2012, at the David L. Lawrence Conference Center in Pittsburgh.
